Flood Waters Continue Rise At East Carmi

Mount Carmel-
Princeton, Ind.,
Highway Closed

By United Press
Flood waters swelled by four hours of heavy rain continued to rise at East Carmi, Ill., today, and more downpours were forecast for the southern Illinois city where 40 families have been evacuated.

The boiling waters coursed through the southern Illinois region hit by a series of freakish off-season tornadoes last week. The overflow of the Little Wabash River closed the main highway from Mount Carmel, Ill., to Princeton, Ind., police said.

A band of showers crossed the Mississippi River from the West early today, and thunderstorm activity continued into the night along the central Gulf Coast.

More than 2 inches of rain fell at Crescent City, Calif., Friday and a 6-to-7-inch snow fell at high elevations in southern Oregon.

Snowfall was widespread over the Great Lakes region but promptly turned to slush in the northern sections of Illinois and Indiana.

The recent cold front over the northern Midwest caused Lake Winnebago in Wisconsin to freeze over—but not enough to support the more than 50 fishermen who ventured on the ice Friday. Authorities set up a ferry service of rowboats to rescue the stranded fishermen when cracks a block long set them adrift.

At East Carmi, officials said the evacuation of about 40 families from the flooded lower section of the town by motorboat had been completed, but that another 20 or 30 families were threatened by the rising waters. The evacuees are being bedded down at a radar station.

Safety Council Predicts
130 Highway Deaths
Over New Year Holiday
CHICAGO (UP)—The National Safety Council has predicted that fewer persons will die on the nation's highways during the 30-hour New Year's holiday than did during the Christmas period.

The lower New Year's prediction, the council said, was based on post-World War II statistics showing that there is less long distance travel during the last holiday of the year.

The council estimated that 130 persons will die New Year's.

The Christmas prediction was 180, but 225 deaths were recorded.

Boy, 4, Died With His 'Boots' On

LONDON (UP)—Little Anthony Simmons died with his cowboy boots on and his six-shooter in his holster.

Anthony, who would have been 4 next Wednesday, was playing cowboys and Indians Friday in a derelict house with other small friends. All were dressed in cowboy hats, chaps and boots they received for Christmas.

A truce was called for supper and the rest of the children went home to eat.

But Anthony, apparently determined to look for more "Indians," went back to the ruined house.

A weakened wall tumbled, burying Anthony under bricks and mortar.

When an ambulance arrived, he was dead.

Soviet Aid Offer Opening Shot in New Cold War

CAIRO (UP)—Western observers today viewed a sweeping Soviet aid offer to African and Asian nations as the opening shot in a new Russian cold war offensive against the West.

The offer was made Friday to unofficial delegates from 37 nations attending an Afro-Asian "solidarity" conference. Delegates from Kenya and Afghanistan arrived Friday night raising the total to 39.

The 400 delegates — predominantly Communist or leftist — discussed the Russian offer excitedly today. They spoke of new opportunities for their awakening continents.

Soviet delegate Apushavan Arzyumanyan offered everything from factories to hospitals with no strings attached. He attacked American aid as loaded with interference in the domestic affairs of the receiving countries.

He coupled the offer with strong urgings that African and Asian nations seize foreign property and capital in their countries.

The delegates gave him a standing ovation at the end of his speech. Since this is not an official conference — its sponsors call it the "people's Bandung" — no agreements could be made here. Terms of the Soviet offer would have to be worked out on the diplomatic level.

But if the Soviet offer were accepted by many of the Afro-Asian nations, and if a plan for a common Afro-Asian market proposed by Egypt were put into effect, the Soviet Union certainly would become the dominating economic factor in all Africa and Asia, in the view of western observers.

Tennessee Judge Says Implications Of Bribe Is 'Plot to Destroy Me'

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn. (UP)—Tennessee Judge Raulston Schoolfield told a radio-television audience Friday night that implications before the Senate Rackets Committee that he accepted a bribe were part of a "consummate plot to destroy me."

The 52-year-old criminal court jurist spoke for an hour here on both radio and TV, then flew to Nashville and made the same speech on another radio hookup. In the speech he denied "emphatically" that he accepted money to quash indictments against members of the Teamsters Union.

Testimony in which the implications were made came during the committee's investigation of labor violence in Chattanooga and other Tennessee areas.

"Directed Squarely At Me"
The probe was "directed squarely at me and no one else," Schoolfield said, and termed the entire investigation "a consummate plot on the part of certain people of interests to destroy me."

Schoolfield said the "interests" wanted to ruin him because of his belief in separation of the races and his opposition "to the federal government's towering proportions of power in the affairs of the people."

Redoubt Safety Efforts, Stratton Urges Motorists

SPRINGFIELD (UP)—Gov. Stratton today urged Illinois motorists to redouble their efforts to hold down highway accidents and fatalities in the remainder of the holiday season.

"These last days could be the deadliest of the year on our highways, but need not be if all our citizens will cooperate," the governor said.

Stratton said the death toll in Illinois through Dec. 25 was 2,057 as compared with 2,103 for the same period in 1956, a reduction of 46.

State Police Chief William H. Morris, meanwhile, reported the use of airplanes for spotting high speeders from the air, will be stepped up for the remainder of the holiday period.

The aircraft are used to clock speeders and communicate with police patrol cars by radio.

this week and agreed to investigate Schoolfield's activities. There also have been indications the state bar may ask the judge to leave the bench until this investigation is complete.

Schoolfield charged in his speech that two Senate investigators sent to the Chattanooga area "addressed almost all of their time and effort toward trying to produce scandalous and/or-unlawful conduct on my part, all of which was wholly unrelated to the field of labor and management."

"At the time I went to Washington I was of the opinion that the senior senator from Tennessee (Estes Kefauver) was in all probability the trigger man in this plot," the judge added. "But up to this time I have been unable to uncover his track."

Dayton Fords To Retire from Flower Business

Mr. and Mrs. Dayton Ford are retiring from business on January 1. They have had Ford's Flower Shop on the corner of Webster and Logan streets in Harrisburg since 1929. They built the greenhouse on the lot next to their home that year. They had been in the florist business for three or four years before that, but following the building of the greenhouse, they were in it full time and hard at work.

Mrs. Ford says that they are going to retire and do some of the things that they have never had time for during the busy years. For instance, since holidays and Sundays are their big order days, they have not been able to take a vacation together for all of the 30 years. Mr. Ford gave up his interest in the Ford Lumber company to work with his wife in the growing florist shop many years ago.

Mrs. Ford says that they are grateful for the many friendships that have grown through the shop in these years and that she has enjoyed the services that they have been able to do for their friends in the times of their greatest joys and in their sorrows.

The community will miss them in these services, but will be happy with them in their new found time for a more personal life with their friends.

All-Night Rescue Operation Ends As Bodies Found

Seven of Victims Under Notice of Layoff Monday

AMONATE, Va. (UP)—Rescue workers today brought to the surface the bodies of 11 coal miners killed by flash burns and concussion from a gas explosion in Amonate Mine No. 31 of the Pocahontas Fuel Co.

The blast occurred about 6:30 p. m. e.s.t. Friday, 500 feet underground and about two miles from the main entrance of the mine.

About 175 miners, far from the explosion scene, fled to safety in a mine elevator. Fourteen others were trapped for six hours, but were rescued unharmed. They had protected themselves from poisonous fumes by stretching canvas over openings in the shaft.

An all-night rescue operation ended with discovery of the bodies of the 11 victims shortly after dawn.

The bodies were brought to the surface more than 13 hours after the explosion occurred. About 75 persons, some of them members of the families of the victims, stood solemnly in the gray morning light at a drift mouth near War, W. Va., as the bodies were brought up on shuttle cars, wrapped in canvas.

Over the drift mouth was a sign: "Have you worked carefully today?"

The bodies were unloaded onto makeshift tables in a machine shop near the entrance, placed on rough hewn boards resting on oil drums and covered with canvas. Final identification was made in the machine shop.

Leave 38 Children
A four-day investigation of the disaster started immediately, by the Federal Bureau of Mines, the West Virginia Department of Mines, the United Mine Workers and the Pocahontas Fuel Co.

Seven of the victims were under notice of a layoff effective Monday. Notice had been given 500 miners in the area that they would be laid off because of falling coal prices.

The 11 victims left 38 children. William Amos was the father of seven, and Main B. Harrison and Arnold W. Young of five each.

The mine is only a few miles from the Bishop, Va., mine where 37 miners were killed in an underground explosion last Feb. 4. Both shafts are owned by the same company.

W. A. Fullerton, special assistant to the president of Pocahontas Fuel Co., said about 175 other miners were working when the gas exploded, but were far from the scene and went to the surface by elevator. None of them was hurt.

Woodrow Evans, 44, foreman of the 14-man group rescued at about 1 a. m. today, said his men remained calm during their wait and "some of them even ate their lunch."

The blast was so deep in the mine that officials did not feel the shock on the surface and did not know there was trouble until gauges showed ventilation failure.

The blast occurred two to two and a half miles from the employees' entrance, Fullerton said, and at about the 500-foot level. The 14 men rescued during the night were working on a seam face beyond the scene of the explosion.

Altar Boy Is Fatally Burned

CHICAGO (UP)—A 13-year-old altar boy died Friday night of burns suffered when his cassock caught fire while he was lighting candles at the altar of a church.

The Rev. Edward Gorman of St. Viator's Roman Catholic Church heard the boy, Paul Sanders, screaming and rushed to his aid. He smothered the flames with an overcoat, but it was too late. Paul died almost 12 hours later.

The accident occurred Friday morning shortly before Paul was to have served the 8:00 a. m. Mass. Roy Sanders, 40, the boy's father, said his son told him before he died that he dropped a match on the altar. His cassock caught fire as he bent to pick it up.

Eisenhower Nears Final Budget Figure in Quiet Seclusion at Farm

Officials to Help
Complete State
Of Union Message

By MERRIMAN SMITH
United Press White House Writer
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (UP)—In the quiet seclusion of his farm President Eisenhower today neared a final figure on the heavy cost next year of making the nation's missile might equal Russia's.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said a determination of the size of the 1958 defense "has not been made definitely — but I think it will be shortly." Defense officials were reported to have submitted recommendations in excess of 40 billion dollars.

Budget Director Percival Brundage was expected here next week along with other high administration officials to help complete the President's Jan. 9 State of the Union message and a later budget message to Congress.

The Chief Executive also planned to play the part of the dotting grandfather to his four grandchildren on the first full day of his new year holiday week of work and rest here. Mr. and Mrs. Eisenhower motored to the farm Friday afternoon, accompanied by three of their grandchildren.

Hagerty declined to confirm or deny reports that the President would include a 500 million dollar fund in the new budget for use at his discretion to exploit new missile or rocket breakthroughs.

The press secretary, in response to questions, also said he doubted whether a final draft of a reply to Soviet Premier Nikolai A. Bulganin's "peace" proposals would be completed until after New Year's. He said the reply was being prepared by the State Department.

Hagerty said before it was dispatched to the Kremlin the President would confer with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, who also will be away from Washington over the holiday.

Tips on Traffic Safety

By CHARLES F. CARPENTIER, Secretary of State

Next week, the nation will celebrate the New Year of 1958. There will be the numerous resolutions made in good faith, but not always carried out. It would be a good time for all of us to resolve to attempt to be better drivers in the forthcoming year.

LET'S ALL BE BETTER DRIVERS IN 1958

Perhaps you occasionally find yourself setting into a "rush-hour hurry," either going to or returning from work. The result is that you will find yourself weaving in and out of traffic. Next year, why not make sure that you leave for your destination with plenty of time to spare in the event you get tied up in traffic. And, if you do find yourself running behind schedule, remember that it will be far better to arrive safely, than to take any chances in traffic which may result in injury or death to you and others.

Along this same line, be patient when behind a steering wheel. Do not "fly off the handle" if another driver cuts sharply in front of you or performs some other form of dangerous driving habits. If you don't control your anger, you'll just be inviting disaster.

Soybean Crop Increases Less Than Usual

The corn and soybean crops developed and matured well despite a late start. Harvest is occurring simultaneously over much greater than usual areas. These developments have put strong pressure on market prices in recent weeks.

The soybean crop is a record-breaker for the fourth consecutive year. On the other hand, the crop this year apparently exceeds that of the previous year by a smaller amount than any of the three preceding crops.

The present crop was estimated by the USDA in September at 459 million bushels. Later estimates are expected to show that it will be around 20 million bushels larger than that of last year. The three previous crops averaged about 60 million bushels more than the crop before. If the market for soybeans continues to expand as it has in recent years, it should not be difficult to dispose of this year's crop.

Prices offered recently for soybeans were about equal to the price support level minus costs of storage. Prices seem likely to rise above this floor sometime during the marketing year.

The national average support level for the 1957 crop is $2.09 a bushel compared with $2.15 for the 1956 crop.

Last year the national average market price received by farmers was $2.07 in October. Later monthly averages ranged from $2.18 to

THIS WEEK AT Dixon Springs

University of Illinois Experiment Station

(A round-up of the week's work, activities, and observations at the University of Illinois Dixon Springs Experiment Station near Robbs in southern Illinois, prepared by the Station's staff.)

Sorghum Thrives on Company

Our Station crops and soils researcher, George McKibben, is continuing to collect evidence proving that underplanting forage sorghums is a waste of land, water, fertilizer and time. This past summer George grew a hybrid forage sorghum with four plant spacings in the row—3, 6, 9 and 12 inches. Respective silage yields, 30 percent dry matter forage, were 13, 11, 11 and 9 tons an acre.

Response to Nitrogen Varies

Heavy application of nitrogen—100 pounds of actual nitrogen an acre—increased silage yields on the wide sorghum spacings only 1 1/4 tons—barely enough to pay. Nitrogen increased the yield of sorghum with the 6-inch spacing by 3 1/3 tons and rocketed yield for the 3-inch spacing to 18 tons of silage an acre, an increase of more than 5 tons for 100 pounds of nitrogen.

Lambs

Newest things on the Station today are lambs. Now that they are arriving, Norris Phelps, Station herdsman, is bending every effort to get them alive, keep them alive and make them grow. Success of the sheep enterprise hinges on the lamb harvest of the next few weeks.

Good Lamb Care Is Good Dam Care

The best way to provide for new lambs is to take good care of the mother. A hay good enough for beef cattle or even dairy cattle may not be good enough for the milking ewe. Good care of the mother sheep is basically good feeding. Feed her the very best of legume hay—alfalfa, clover or lespedeza. Be sure the hay is leafy, bright and fine-stemmed; it is high in protein, vitamins and minerals. It is of such stuff that milk is made. In addition, feed the milking ewe about 1 1/2 pounds of grain daily. Equal parts of shelled corn and oats are excellent.

Norris Phelps has a piece of equipment in each of the lambing sheds that greatly increases the lamb harvest. A folding pen made of two four-foot panels hinged together will keep the lambs from straying and becoming hungry and lost in the flock. Norris puts a ewe and her lambs into one of these pens for two or three days so that he can give them the individual attention they need. No miracle drug or herd additive has yet proved so valuable as this individual pen and the care that it permits.

$2.31. Prices for the 1956 crop received a strong boost when the Suez Canal was blocked.

Exports Important

Exports are a very important factor in the market for soybeans. Around 85 million bushels, or nearly one-fifth, of last year's crop were exported. Most of the export beans were sold in Japan, Netherlands, West Germany and Canada.

Most of the exported beans were shipped under export subsidies provided by Public Law 480. Thus the export market for our soybeans will depend considerably upon the production of competing oilseeds in foreign countries. Reliable estimates of foreign production will not be available until about December.

The carryover of old soybeans is again inconsequential—only a few million bushels.

There are a number of possible soybean price-lifting factors: The cottonseed crop may be a little smaller than last year. U. S. and Canadian production of flax seed is down from 1956 levels. Increasing hog production may boost the demand for soybean meal. Broiler production, which uses large amounts of soybean meal, continues to increase.

SIU Country Column

By Albert Meyer

With this issue the "SIU Country Column" completes three years of regular weekly appearances.

This third anniversary of a column may not be anything to get excited about, but it means that more than 150 times the writer has started at this mechanical gadget, the typewriter, and probed for at least one presentable idea. Many gifted newspaper columnists face that kind of a project every day—or at least five days per week. That would be frightening, indeed.

Probably it would be more suitable to pass along a few resolutions that farmers ought to consider for New Year's Day instead of this prattle about columns. However, good resolutions are about as hard to make as they are to keep, so we'll postpone mentioning possibilities until later.

While searching for the germ of an idea for a column today we came across the first issue. Hence, the resolutions must wait, if you don't mind, while we do a little reminiscing and comparing.

At first the column was a collection of short bits of timely information furnished by members of the SIU Agriculture Department staff. There was no extended discussion about any special topic. Those were great days for column writing. Each staff member contributed one-half dozen statements at the beginning of each month and the writer's weekly chore consisted of taking one or two of each and putting them together into a column. Such good fortune could not last. Before the columnist realized it, the staffers had gotten too busy with other work, the stream of contributions giving short informational hints to farmers dried up, and column writing became a problem of unearthing a timely fact or two every week and discussing it more extensively.

We are pleased that a number of friendly editors have used this column regularly every week. Others have used it only as space or choice permitted. This, too, is understandable and appreciated. Others haven't used it at all—and we understand that, too. Occasionally a reader will surprise us by reporting that he enjoys reading every column.

Examination of that first column brings into focus the startling changes that have occurred in the agriculture program at Southern Illinois University in three short years. Twelve agriculture department faculty members were listed in January, 1954. Eight still are on hand and four have gone to other positions. However, the faculty now numbers 25 persons instead of 12. Instead of just an Agriculture Department, there now is a School of Agriculture with four departments. Then, four residences, a quonset building, and a calf barn comprised the campus facilities for agricultural offices, classrooms, and laboratories. This fall a new Agriculture building with adequate modern facilities and equipment was occupied.

There went good intentions for New Year's resolutions. Let's mention a few briefly (and keep them!). Resolved, that I will: Keep my farm records up to date in the new year so I'll have less trouble with income tax and other government reports, and will know exactly how my farm projects are paying off.

Plan my farming program for the year before spring field work begins.

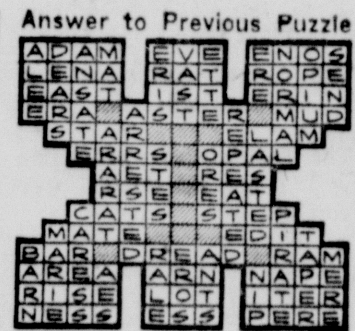

Make those improvements in the kitchen to lighten the work for the homemaker.

Get the farm machinery all checked and repaired this winter so that time-losing breakdowns will be less likely after field work starts in the spring.

Truck and bus transportation systems provide employment for 6,750,000 Americans.

Salukis Clash Monday With Ky. Wesleyan

OWENSBORO, Ky. — Southern Illinois University will clash with the host school, Kentucky Wesleyan College, in the second game of the fifth annual Kentucky All-American City holiday basketball tournament here Monday night.

Pre-tournament favorite Ohio University, recent 76-68 victor over Indiana University, will battle Washington and Lee in the tournament's opening tilt at 7:30. The SIU-Kentucky Wesleyan game follows at 9:15.

Tournament finals will be Tuesday night with the consolation tilt at 7:30 and the championship bowl at 9:15.

Past winners of the Owensboro meet, regarded as one of the nation's best college tournaments, have been the University of Maryland (1953 and 1954), Evansville College (1955), and Kentucky Wesleyan (1956).

"We'll be in tough company," said SIU Coach Lynn Holder, whose Salukis are better than their 24 record indicates. Three of Southern's losses have been by two points or less, one in an overtime.

After losing two-point decisions to the University of North Dakota and North Dakota State (62-60 and 60-58, SIU downed Missouri School of Mines, 58-59, and then dropped an 80-59 decision to undefeated Southeast Missouri in a fireman's benefit game at Flora, Ill., Dec. 20. Southern beat Northern Illinois University, 62-49, in the Salukis' only conference encounter Dec. 21 and then lost a 60-59 thriller to Washburn University in a Little League benefit game at Marion, Ill., Dec. 23.

In the front line, Holder plans to start Larry Whitlock, 6-5, Mt. Vernon, and Seymour Bryson, 6-4, Quincy, at forwards and Marvin Jones, 6-3, East St. Louis, at center. Starting guards are more doubtful, but Holder probably will go with Warren Talley, 6-3, Pinckneyville, and Gene Sams, 5-10, Albion.

Kentucky Wesleyan, recent 94-78 loser to Miami University (Fla.), has a veteran crew and will be a slight favorite over the Salukis.

Leading scorer for Southern this season is Whitlock, who has 90 points in six games.

Five Youths are Believed Drowned In Mississippi River

LOUISIANA, Mo. — Dragging operations resumed today for the bodies of five youths believed drowned in the Mississippi River during a hunting expedition.

The five started upriver Friday to hunt on Ducker Island in the legendary Huckleberry Finn country 30 miles south of Hannibal.

Their capsized motorboat was found swamped in the wind-roughened current at the junction of the Salt and Mississippi rivers four miles north of here. Authorities who searched the island said they apparently never reached it.

High wind Friday night halted the nine-hour search by Louisiana police, Pike County sheriff's deputies and volunteers of an emergency corps from New Canton, Ill.

Missing were Harold Niffen, 17; his brother, George, 16; their cousin, James Saunders, 14; their brother-in-law, John Clark, 21, and Clark's brother, Ben, 19.

Four Young Men Sentenced to Electric Chair

NEW YORK (AP)—Four youths, ranging in age from 17 to 22, stood before the bar of justice.

Each in his turn heard the same solemn words from Judge James P. McGrattan.

"This court sentences you to die in the electric chair in Sing Sing prison the week of February 10th—may God have mercy on your soul."

It was the first time in Queens County Court history that four defendants were sentenced to death for one murder.

The four were convicted Dec. 11 by a jury of 11 men and one woman for the holdup slaying of delicatessen proprietor William Boser, 61. The jury failed to recommend mercy making the death sentence mandatory.

Thomas Frye, 20, was the first to appear before McGrattan Friday for sentencing. He appeared calm but flinched noticeably when the grim-faced judge intoned the death sentence.

William Wynn, 17, whose widowed mother, Clara, was the only close relative of any of the defendants in court, gulped nervously when sentence was pronounced.

Ralph Dawkins, 22, seemed self-possessed and maintained an outer calm.

Only Jackson Turner Jr., 21, appeared blase. He strode into the courtroom grinning jauntily. He also was the only one to address the court before sentence was pronounced.

"When this trial first started we requested that Negroes be put on the jury," Turner told the court. "There were not enough Negroes called to be chosen and that, your honor, is a violation of my constitutional rights."

There was a marriage ceremony in the Standesbeamte (marriage bureau) at 10 a. m. and at 2 p. m. they were married by the chaplain in the chapel of the overseas base and Pfc. May's captain gave the bride in marriage.

She wore a white flannel sheath dress and a tiny hat trimmed with sequins, complemented with the richness of her black suede shoes. She carried a large bouquet of white roses.

In her letter to her parents, the bride did not name her attendant, but she had a bridesmaid and the captain's wife arranged a reception for the bride party. There was a wedding cake at the bride's table and four photographers made pictures of the happy event.

The bride left Harrisburg Nov. 15 and flew TWA from St. Louis, Mo., to New York where she took a flight for Frankfurt, Germany. She was met at the Frankfurt Airport by Pfc. May and taken to the base only 20 miles away.

Miss Katherine Stapp Elected President of IEA

NORMAL, Ill. (UP)—Miss Katherine Stapp, who has taught in Danville schools for 33 years, was elected president of the Illinois Education Assn. Friday.

Miss Stapp, the first IEA president to be elected without the endorsement of the nominating committee since 1927, was nominated from the floor by R. V. Minton, principal of St. Anne High School.

Arthur W. Bowley of Kewanee Junior High School had been endorsed for president by the committee Thursday, but after the counting of the first ballot Friday, Bowley moved that the election be made unanimous.

Other officers elected were William A. Watters, principal of Foreman School, Chicago, to a three-year term as IEA director, and Gerald Brown of the Paris public school system as chairman of the legislation committee.

Brown has served as appointed chairman of the committee since the death of Bertrand L. Smith of Oak Park elementary schools last March.

Miss Stapp, an English teacher, has a life membership in the National Education Assn.

The association Friday night went on record as opposing an elective superintendent of public instruction over the opposition of incumbent Vernon L. Nickell.

Nickell, president of the IEA in 1942-43, voiced his protest at a meeting and election of officers at Illinois Normal University.

The resolution adopted by the IEA called for the establishment of a state board of education and an appointive superintendent. If the plan were enacted by the Legislature, the governor would appoint future superintendents instead of the voters electing them. In other action, the IEA approved a resolution that would allow unit school districts to boost their bonding limit to 10 per cent of assessed valuation instead of the present 5 per cent.

'Brothers' Through Christ'

Philemon 1:16
GOLDEN TEXT: "And above all things put on charity, which is the bond of perfection." (Co lossians 3:14)

INTRODUCTION — As we look to the beginning of a new year, this lesson is quite appropriate.
It speaks of Christian brother hood. Looking about us today we see a great need for Christian brotherhood. We need it on a world-wide basis as never before. Just think what it can mean. All the world's problems can be solved through Christian brotherhood. All the differences existing between nations will van ish away when Christian brother hood comes into existence.

You say you think the author of these lines is dreaming? That is what the world thought about slavery not many years ago.
Through the influence of this lit tle book, PHILEMON, we study today, slavery has been abolish ed. The influence of Christ, through His followers, can bring "peace on earth and goodwill to men everywhere."

I CHRISTIAN LOVE (1-3)

Onesimus, a slave, had escap ed from his master after steal ing from him (V. 18). He had come in contact with Paul and had become converted to Chris tianity. He is now on his way back to his master, Philemon, with this letter from Paul.

Philemon was a good Christian gentleman. He had one of the church families to meet in his house regularly. Paul did not hesitate to express his love for Philemon.

Please note the tactful approach
Paul is making to Philemon.
What a good example for men to day! Sometimes men seem back ward about expressing their love for another man. This should not be. Conditions everywhere would be much better if men would come right out and express their love one for the other.

II CHRISTIAN APPRECIATION (V. 4-7)

Paul told Philemon that he prayed for him daily. Here again we see a splendid example. Any person appreciates knowing that someone is praying for him. Try telling someone that you are praying for them daily and see what it does for them. (Do not tell them this unless you really are praying for them.)

Paul compliments Philemon be cause of his good influence on others. We all like to think that we have some good influence up on others. When someone tells us that we do have such influ ence, our hearts are made glad.
Here again, we could well follow
Paul's example, and tell others
the good we see in them.

III CHRISTIAN ASSISTANCE (V. 8-11)

If you really want to cause someone to become closer to you;
call upon that one to help you.
Do not be hypocritical about it.
Wait until there is something that this person can really do to be of help to you; then seek that help.
You will find that this person will love you more.

IV CHRISTIAN THOUGHTFULNESS (V. 12-14)

A Christian considers the feel ings of others. Paul was getting old. He could have really used Onesimus as a helper. He need ed him. However, Paul knew that Onesimus belonged to Phile
mon. Therefore, Paul was fore going his own desires and think ing of Philemon. It would make your surroundings much more pleasant day by day if you, like Paul, would always consider the feelings of others.

CONCLUSION — Finally, Paul tells Philemon that Onesimus should now be recognized as a brother in Christ. He tells Phile

When he stops being cute

This is his very first New Year. He's celebrating it in his own talented fashion, just being cute.

Last year thousands of boys and girls were arrested as juvenile delin quents. They had all been cute—once!

But did they have the priceless ex ample of active Christian parents?
Were they given moral and spiritual training in the Church? Did they grow up in a Christian atmosphere?

This young fellow can't be abso lutely sure that the New Year is worth celebrating. His future is in the hands of his parents. But he's smiling be cause of his confidence in them.

During this New Year their faith in God, and the sincerity of their rela tionship with the Church will begin to determine just what their son is going to be when he stops being cute.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest fac tor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values.
Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and sup port the Church. They are: (1)
For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4)
For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and mat terial support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

plan was being worked out.
Christians are brothers in Christ. There are no lines of dis repeat that Christian brotherhood can solve every problem between

Seixas, MacKay Prevent Aussie Davis Cup Sweep

MELBOURNE (U)—Vic Seixas and Barry MacKay salvaged some prestige for the United States Davis Cup team today when they outlasted their already-victorious Australian opponents in the concluding "exhibition" matches of the challenge round.

Seixas, playing in what he announced was his final Davis Cup match, turned back lanky Mal Anderson, 6-3, 4-6, 6-3, 0-6, 13-11, in a grueling 127-minute duel that ruined the Aussies' bid for their third straight challenge round sweep.

Then MacKay, a newcomer to these time-honored Aussie-U. S. cup matches, outgunned Ashley Cooper in another five-set marathon, 6-4, 1-6, 4-6, 6-4, 8-3. Both matches were played in near-100 degree weather.

It was a remarkable recovery for the doughty Yanks but only served to reduce Australia's winning margin to three of the best-of-five series. Seixas and MacKay dropped their opening singles matches Thursday and then allowed the cup to slip from their grasp when the Aussies clinched matters in Friday's doubles match.

Rosiclare Third With 79-57 Verdict Over Johnston City

Carrier Mills, with a convincing 78-56 decision over Metropolis Friday night in the title game, took championship honors in its own holiday invitational tournament.

Rosiclare captured third place honors with a 79-57 verdict over Johnston City in the consolation game.

Carrier Mills broke the championship game wide open in the latter part of the third quarter and continued the rout throughout the final frame.

The winning Wildcats scored the first two baskets of the game, then Metropolis came back and the score was knotted 6-6. Metropolis scored two buckets in a hurry for a 10-6 lead and at the end of the frame the score was Metropolis 16, Carrier Mills 12.

Metropolis was jamming the middle very effectively, keeping the ball away from Rollins, who usually scores well from in close. Smith, sophomore guard, kept CM in the game with his hard driving, getting in for three baskets in this first quarter.

Carrier Mills pulled away in the second period as Manier and Williams hit well from the outside and at halftime the 'Cats were on top 33-28.

Giardello Wins

Unanimous Decision

Over Tiger Jones

MIAMI BEACH (U)—Joey Giardello said today his unanimous decision over Ralph (Tiger) Jones should convince the world he is ready for a shot at the middleweight crown now worn by Carmen Basilio.

The fourth-ranked middleweight fought his way out of trouble in the third round Friday night and reeled Jones with a combination left hook and overhand right that sent the Yonkers, N. Y., "Tiger" to the canvas for only the second time in his 69-fight professional career.

At the end of the nationally-televised 10-rounder, Giardello was winging his counter punches home with accuracy to gain the unanimous verdict of the two judges and referee Jimmy Peersless.

Bull Dogs Will Meet Carbondale for Third Place Trophy Tonight

It will be West Frankfort vs. Mt. Vernon for the championship and Harrisburg vs. Carbondale for third place in the finals of the Egyptian Holiday Basketball tournament at Davenport gym tonight.

The title game is at 8:45 p. m. The battle for third will precede, starting at seven o'clock.

West Frankfort won the right to enter the finals by taking a hard-fought contest from the Harrisburg Bull Dogs, 52 to 41, in the opening semi-final tilt last night. Harrisburg led throughout until only three minutes and 45 seconds were left in the contest, when the Red Birds put on a scoring spurt while the Bull Dogs were held to nary a field goal.

Mt. Vernon defeated Carbondale in the semifinal nightcap, 56 to 46, pulling away in the final quarter after the half ended tied 30 to 30 and the third quarter score was 36-36. Carbondale played hard against the Rams and the issue was in doubt the first three periods.

Locals Shoot .44

The Harrisburg-Frankfort ball game was a beauty up until the final quarter when Frankfort tied the game at 38-38 with three minutes and 55 seconds to go and went ahead quickly at three minutes, 45 seconds. In those last three minutes, 55 seconds Frankfort outscored Harrisburg 16 to 3. In fact the entire last quarter Harrisburg made but one field goal and missed on several key free shots which if made could have kept the locals on top and in the driver's seat.

But when Frankfort took the lead the Red Birds seemed to relax and hit very time they sent the ball toward the hoop.

Harrisburg had a better shooting percentage from the field, connecting on 16 out of 36 for an excellent .444. Frankfort, with a bigger team, shot a lot more, connecting on 19 out of 51 for .372. At the free throw line the locals made 9 of 20, Frankfort 14 of 22.

Score 23-20 at Half

Harrisburg took a 7-3 lead quick at the outset and held on, 13-11, at the quarter. With Ron Maynard holding 6-5 Vlado Zavich in check the Bull Dogs held onto a 23-20 lead at halftime and a 34-30 margin at the end of the third quarter. In the last quarter the big Bird made 14 of his 17 points for the evening. Bulky Francis Florian had 16 points for the Birds and Bob Pavelonis was high for Harrisburg with 14.

In the second tilt Mt. Vernon never was behind but the tilt was close the first three quarters with the score being tied at 4-4, 6-6, 30-30, 32-32 and 36-36, the last score being the count at the end of the third quarter.

The margin began spreading at the outset of the final period with big 6-6 Jack Kotter hitting for 9 points in the last three minutes, the last seven coming on free throws as Carbondale tried desperately to stem the Ram tide.

Large Crowd on Hand

Kotter was high point man of the game, with 20. Jay Lovelace of the Terriers, who had 32 points against Eldorado Thursday night, was high for his team with 15.

In tonight's games, teams will be facing each other for a second time this season, and odd: enough the games were won by four points. West Frankfort defeated Mt. Vernon 50-46 at Frankfort two weeks ago and Harrisburg won over Carbondale 63-59 at Carbondale a week ago Tuesday night.

There was a big, enthusiastic crowd on hand last night and another one is expected for this evening. Twenty-one coaches from southern Illinois high schools were counted at the gym last night, some coming down from the Centralia tournament, which is still in progress.

Marshall Cothran's high school band has been furnishing music during intermissions.
